Vinculum Communications Launches Partner Program

- Voice-over IP (VoIP) service provider seeks established network systems administrators, interconnect firms; payouts as much as 25 percent -

SAN DIEGO – May 15, 2007 – Vinculum Communications, Inc., a premier provider of bundled Internet phone services, today announced the launch of its partner program that targets established interconnects, Internet Service Providers, system integrators and telecommunications carriers.

Selected VoIP resellers to this program will help expand the company's efforts to market its VinTalk™ hosted IP PBX and SIP Trunking platform to small and medium-size businesses worldwide.

"Our goal is to create mutually-beneficial partner partnerships as solid as our technology," said Tom Judkins, director of alternate channels for Vinculum Communications. "We are seeking established firms and sales staffs that understand the market."

Selected partners will be chosen and divided geographically, and will receive initial training on the VinTalk system, its broadband VoIP technology components as well as its unique benefits. Resellers can also brand Vinculum under their own moniker in some cases. Partners can earn recurring commissions as high as 25%!

"Operating as an interconnect in the Indianapolis area for the past 22 years, we have seen many new technological breakthroughs in the phone industry," said Bill Ogle, principal at Indiana Telephone Company. "Vintalk's hosted IP PBX and SIP Trunking services is a win-win by providing both our SMB customers the best in breed communication services at the right price, but also improving our bottom line. Vintalk is clearly the future of telecommunications services."
